

THE BERKELEY

↑ London, UK

I've very much hopped around London hotels, and this one has been my favourite so far. The first time I went to London for Fashion Week, it just felt like a safe, calm and beautiful place to be. This might be random, but I really love their bathrooms: They have heated floors and a soaking tub. I always look for a soaking tub in rooms I'm staying in. The jet-setting journalist and podcast host shares five of her most memorable stays

THE WEST HOLLYWOOD EDITION

↓ California, USA

I'm a very sensory person: A smell takes me back to a good time, and as soon as you walk into the Edition, you're flooded with memories of good times you've had there. It's in such a perfect location: LA is not a place that you would typically walk, but when I stayed there I walked everywhere. Having a fantastic spa is really important to me as well, and they have this incredible facial where they use a massive LED light on your face — they let me take it up to my room, which is amazing. #### THE RITZ-CARLTON, MARINA DEL REY

↑ California, USA

I'm a Ritz-Carlton person — I grew up going to Ritz-Carltons, and this one really stands out. We love, love, love Venice Beach, but this is in Marina Del Rey, so it's very quiet but just a mile away from the beach. I like getting room service: I'll go have a nice dinner, then I'll come back and order a Caesar salad with French fries and a final dessert. Because you have to have a dinner after the dinner! #### WORD OF MOUTH

HOTEL IL PELLICANO

↑ Porto Ercole, Italy

Everybody who works at Il Pellicano knows you by name, and knows what you need before you need it. We're very good friends with the family who owns it, and I feel like I'm at a family reunion every time we go. The boutique, Issimo, is a curation of creative director Marie-Louise Sciò's favourite finds, and I'm obsessed with her eye. You can literally come with an empty suitcase and stock up — I have a pair of velvet mustard yellow Pellicano loafers from there. hotelpellicano.com

LA MAMOUNIA

↑ Marrakech, Morocco

La Mamounia is an entire other world: the architecture, the colours, the food, the décor, the gardens. Even the ice cream is fantastic — I feel like good ice cream means it's worth staying! I was there with my mother, and it felt like we were in a magical time. I love Morocco, and this trip was special because it was the first time I had gone with my mom.
