BEST OF ALL WORLDS

BOOKING A ROOM at a Four Seasons always comes with equal doses of assurance and curiosity: You know exactly what standards of service and design to expect, but it's a delight to see how they become distilled with local flavor. At the Four Seasons Resort Dubai at Jumeirah Beach, that influence finds a home in arabesque details—geometric motifs and bubbling star-shaped fountains that could have been plucked straight from the Alhambra. The hotel's crescent of sand and bougainvillea-strewn pathways evoke a faraway place, always lulling me into such a relaxed reverie that it's hard to believe I'm in Dubai—until I glimpse the Burj Khalifa peeking out above the palm trees. I check in here when I want to do it all: relax by the beachside pools or at the tranquil spa by day, then dive into the best of Dubai's nightlife—first with sashimi at the sultry Mimi Kakushi, then a party on the sand at Nammos, the city's hottest beach club.
